LIFE IS A PUZZLE AT J.T. BARBER

Hi Mint,
It has been a pleasure being with you the past two years and I hope the future will be as pleasant.
Joan

"This above all: to thine own self be true;
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

D. Jenkins - English - sociology - homeroom

It has been fun knowing you, remember the good times we had on week-ends.

Faculty and Administration

Our teachers show us the way through the puzzle of life. We learn where the pieces go - how mathe and science, the classics and good government fit into God's plan for happiness on earth and in heaven.

Classes

The boys with whom we've prayed and worked, played and studied, with whom we competed, with whom we became men.

Page 12

Organizations- Activities

Active is the word for our days at Barber, putting into practice what we learned in the classroom; putting our free time to constructive use.

Students

Academic courses stimulate our intellects. In this age of space, we find the sciences and mathe challenging and interesting. The social studies strengthen our understanding of national and international problems and languages brighten our life.

Athletics

Our teams are known throughout the city and throughout the state for their ruggedness, for their sportsmanship. Our fans are known for their enthusiasm, for their support.

Foreword

Quadratic equations, honor roll, Caesar's battles, dances, standing-in-line, homework . . . it's a puzzle and where do we go from here - to a bigger puzzle: to atom bombs and segregation, to write - to work an income tax, to sputniks and the United Nations - to the problems of a frantic world.

The hectic events of our high school days somehow did fit together. Our parents, our pastors, our teachers showed us design in the turmoil - the design of the Creator made known through His church.

These pages record how a portion of the puzzle fits together - the important little pieces. With God's help, the bigger pieces will fit together also.

MRS. M. DANYUS

Dedication

Life at J. T. Barber is but a puzzle. Each part, a unique puzzle within itself, will play a role all its own in developing our ideals for life. Piece by piece and part by part, we have tried to mold our lives during the past few years. However, without the guidance of Mrs. M. B. Danyus and Mrs. E. B. Vanunity within this puzzle. Therefore, as a small token of appreciation and gratitude to show our love, respect and honor for their didactical contributions, we proudly dedicate to them the 1961 "Warrior."

Message

I believe a principal's annual message to a senior class should express hope and inspiration to his audience, as well as challenges. High School graduation marks a major milestone in the life of each senior. For some, it means the shifting into a higher gear as he continues his education in other institutions; while for others, their graduation will mark the time when they are expected to assume their role as a member of the productive force of their community.

Among the essentials associated with success, I should like to emphasize the need to avoid complacency and self-satisfaction. These can exert an effect upon an individual not unlike that of a millstone around the neck of a swimmer. The tempo of contemporary life is so great that to do less than continue to seek knowledge, training, and personal development is to slip backwards.

It is well to be pleased with one's accomplishments; but, loll in satisfaction, no! This attitude leads to stagnation. All the progress of our modern world has been stimulated by dissatisfaction on the part of someone about something. This works the same with individual lives as well as with material things. So, please keep these thoughts in mind as you venture from these sheltering walls and face the adult world with confidence and the determination to be a substantial citizen always.

Classes

Academic Courses Stimulate Our Intellects

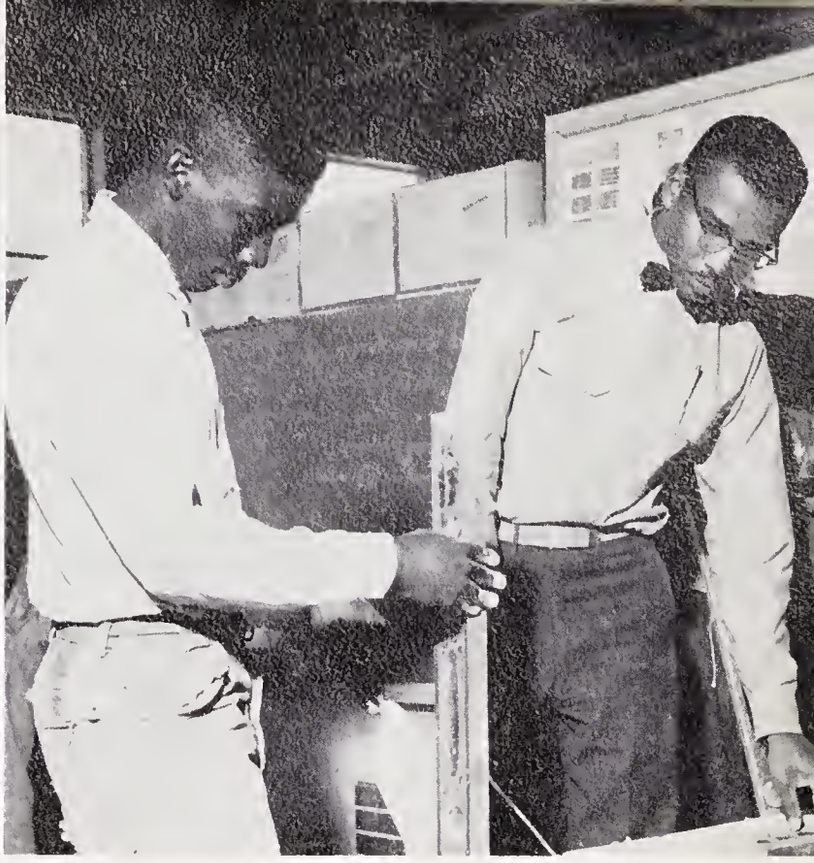
Mrs. Faison's English II class is taking notes in preparation for its panel discussion and debates.

Students in Miss William's English II class are analyzing sentences.

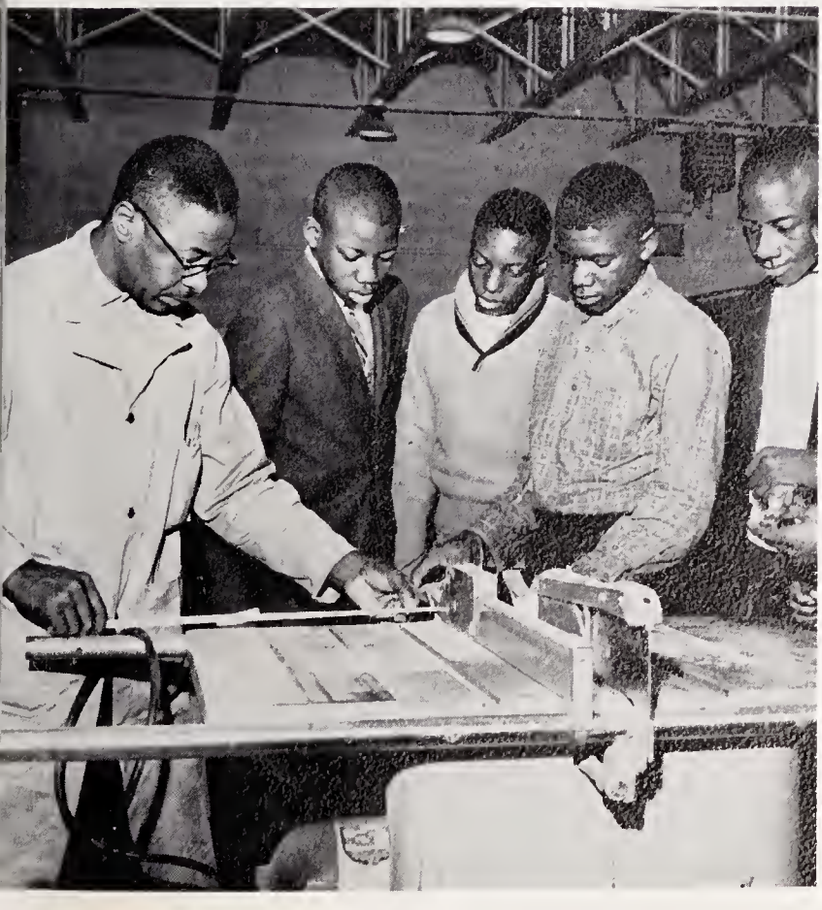
A section of Mrs. Danyus' French I class seems to be trying hard to learn today's assignment.

Mrs. Manns exhibits the Elizabethan Theatre to the Speech and Drama class.

Fashions change, equipment varies, but some sewing techniques are always basic - comments Mrs. Richards.



Student is being observed and directed in plumbing Flemish Bond wall.



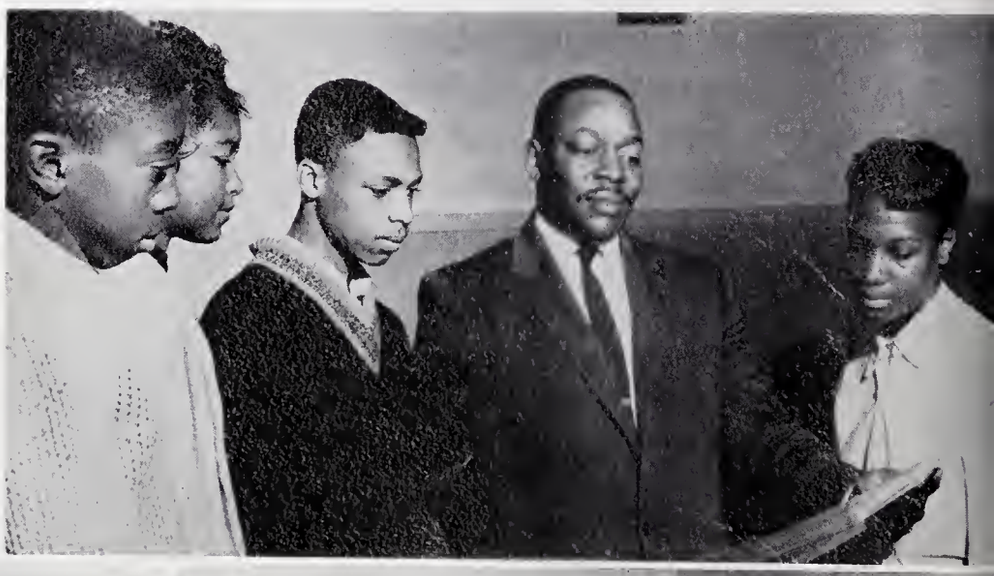
Industrial Arts students taught by Mr. Hayes are observing the technique of accurately measuring before setting the Rip Fence on the Table Saw.

A homemaking student gives a demonstration on measuring some foods, while some students and their teacher, Mrs. Fenner, look on.

Mrs. Jenkins demonstrates through a group activity in her Sociology class the importance of "getting down to brass tacks and bear facts."

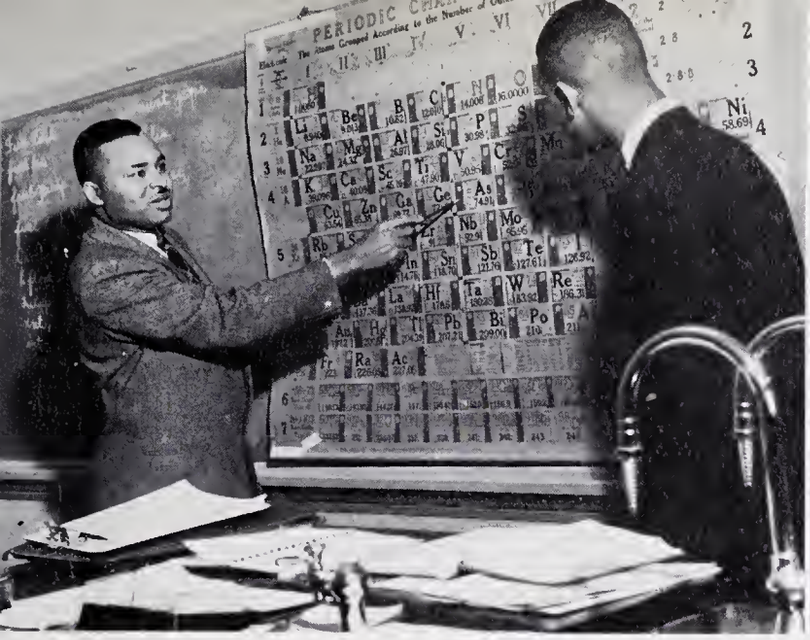
A U. S. history class taught by Mrs. Jones discusses the 49th and 50th states as to resources, location, and development.

Mr. Attmore is discussing with his class the method in selecting the senators and representatives to the federal government.



To make music of value, join Miss Jeffreys and her Typing I class as it types thirty words per minute.

Individualized instruction is essential in teaching band. Mr. Moore displays this principle in teaching Band I.



Chemistry teacher, Mr. W. Keyes, points out the distribution of electrons on the levels of the "Bohr" atom.

"Plane geometry introduces future mathematicians to a wonderland of numbers, figures, questions and answers," states Mrs. Van Falconer.

Mr. Coates' tenth grade biology class is preparing and studying the fetus of the pig.

The health and physical education class taught by Miss Martin studies the many systems in the human body.

Several students wait as Librarian, Mrs. Bryant, charges their books.
